Hospitality Room Responsibility

Under-aged youth have been known to visit convention hotels in order to obtain alcoholic beverages. This can cause a liability problem for both the State, and the local Council hosting the hospitality room.

In an effort to protect all of our Councils, the convention badges of those conventioners who are under 21 years of age will have a yellow stripe on the badge to signify those conventioners are under 21 years of age. All hospitality room workers are asked to inspect the convention badge to ensure that they serve alcoholic beverages only to those 21 and over. Violations could result in a loss of future hospitality room assignments.

Please help the hospitality room managers by reminding all those attending to keep their convention badge displayed at all times.

If you plan to have balloons in or around your hospitality room you cannot use helium or any other gas that will allow the balloons to rise to the ceiling.
